

An informed populace is at the heart of any true democracy. Reducing the number of media owners will necessarily reduce the sources of information and the type of information that will reach the American people. It is vital to democracy to ensure that as many viewpoints, ideas, and opinions as possible are expressed in public forums. Unrestricted media ownership rules will certainly erode democracy in America.